He Knocks Out Denny Gallagher in Five Rounds.

A Desperate Battle in a Private Parlor.

The Boston Boy Leads Off Gaily in the First and Second Rounds, But Goes to the Wall When the Troy Man Gets His Blood Up—Interrupted by Women's Screams—Gallagher Put to Sleep in the Fifth Round by a Hot Right-Hander.

The much-talked-of prize fight between Mike Cushing, of Troy, and Denny Gallagher, of Boston, that was postponed three times since last week, was successfully fought at an early hour this morning without any interference from the police.

Thirty of the most intimate club friends of the men were given the tip to meet at an up-town hotel last night, from which they were conveyed in coaches to the battle ground, that was situated in the parlor of a private house on one of the lonely roads in Fordham, where everything was in readiness for the fray, and where the men were arriving soundly before meeting.

The numbers of the men were given at an early hour this morning without any interference from the police. Mike proved himself by winning the fight to be a clever and game young light-weight, having fought one of the greatest fights on record with Jack Hopper on April 25 of last year, when he fought twenty-two of the thirty-two rounds with a broken hand and arm. He also won the light-weight championship while an amateur in 1884.

Gallagher is now at the business, but as game as they "make 'em." This is his first ring encounter for some time. His only fighting of any importance was a glove contest with Jack McGinty—in which he easily defeated McGinty—before the members of the Irish Club in Boston, and on another occasion fighting a draw with the same man before the same club.

The conditions under which they fought this morning were for a finish with skin gloves for a stake of $1,000, to be governed by Marquis of Queensberry's rules. Cushing is twenty-three years of age. He stands 5 feet 6 inches high and weighed 133 pounds. His seconds were Dan Gallagher and Jim Cleary, the two Brooklyn men who also fought after him in his last fight with Hopper.

Whitaker is only twenty years old. He is a very bright and intelligent young man. He weighed one pound heavier and three inches taller than his opponent. His wants were taken after by Tom Cullen and Mike Brennan.

P. J. Donohue was chosen referee and Louis Berte acted as watch-holder for both parties. Cushing made his appearance in white trunks, brown socks and the regulation black fighting shoes, while Cushing wore black trunks, flesh-colored stockings and tan-colored boxing gloves.

Brown dogskin gloves, turned inside out, were worn. Cushing had the fingers out of his, while Gallagher wore his gloves without any padding. It was pretty late when time was called for the fight.

First Round—Gallagher came forward wearing a pale and sort of frightened expression on his face, while Cushing stepped into the ring with a cool and seemingly a cool head. Not a moment had elapsed when Denny opened the fight with a series of punches that landed on the shoulder, but which only landed in a sliding manner on Cushing's head. Mike countered with a series of punches that landed on the head, but which only landed in a sliding manner on Cushing's head.

Gallagher let go his left, again landing three times in succession on the head, but which only landed in a sliding manner on Cushing's head. Mike countered with a series of punches that landed on the head, but which only landed in a sliding manner on Cushing's head.

TOO BAD A MAN TO BE KILLED.

Wm. Schweers Only Hurt His Head When He Fell and so Hurt Himself.

William Schweers, a German carpenter, forty-six years old, hanged himself in his workshop in the cellar of 173 Elizabeth street, opposite his home, early this morning.

Schweers was addicted to drink and the liquor affected his brain, making him subject to fits. Two years ago, such a fit fell from a five-story building. Two months ago in another fit he fell down two flights of stairs, and two weeks ago in a third fit he fell off a stool in Most street.

In nearly every instance he was injured about the head and his brain was more or less affected. After a spree last July he was for fourteen weeks in an insane asylum. After his last fall he said to his wife, "I am too bad a man to be killed. I will have to be my own executioner yet."

He had been drinking for a week. He promised another carpenter, Kunkel, last night that he would be all right this morning. When at 7 o'clock Kunkel called for him, Kunkel discovered that he had committed suicide.

LYNCH OF JERSEY, WINS THE FIGHT.

He Put Frank Sweeney to Sleep in Four Rounds at Pawtucket.

[SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.]

PAWTUCKET, R. I., April 11.—At 2 o'clock this morning two pugilists fought each other in a secluded portion of the city and struggled through four rounds quite successfully. They were Frank Sweeney, of Providence, weight 120 pounds, and J. Lynch, of Jersey City, N. J., weight 134 pounds.

The terms were skin-gloves for a finish, Marquis of Queensberry's rules, for a purse of $100. The referee was a Mr. Donaherty, of Boston, and the fight was given the position of a draw.

At the first knockdown and first blow were won by Sweeney, after good work by both men. Lynch ran high. This continued until a clinch occurred at the end of the fourth round and Sweeney clinched a foul.

The referee cautioned Lynch not to let it occur again, but while the matter was under consideration Sweeney was again on his feet. Lynch was again on his feet. Lynch was again on his feet.

IS SHE IN NEW YORK?

Lieut. Ryan Charged With Stealing Minnie Parsons.

He is Locked Up in Default of Bail at Pittsburgh.

She is a Pretty Girl and Lived With Her Parents in Allegheny City, Before She Left Home Two Months Ago—The Couple Traced to This City, Where All Tracks of the Girl Were Lost—A Sensation in Army and Navy Circles.

[SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.]

PITTSBURGH, April 11.—Lieut. Ryan, of the United States Navy, who has for some time been stationed in this city as an inspector of armor plate, and J. H. Meade, a well-known young man, were last night arrested on a charge of abduction.

The young lady whom they are charged with having persuaded to leave her home is Minnie Parsons, who lived with her parents in Allegheny, and is only seventeen years of age.

On the evening of the 31st of last January she left her home, telling her mother that she was going to see her uncle who lives in Pittsburgh and that she would return home before bedtime.

She did not come home that night, but no detective anxiety was felt by her parents, who supposed that she had been persuaded to stay at her uncle's.

But when she did not return the next day they became anxious, and when they learned that she had not been at her uncle's house the night before they became seriously alarmed.

Detectives were placed on the case, and after considerable time and by the assistance of Inspector Barnes, of New York, Minnie was traced to London. Here it is alleged that she had been married to a man named Ryan, who is now in the army.

From this point the detectives traced the couple to New York, where they stopped at the Windsor Hotel, registering as "Mr. and Mrs. Ryan."

There all traces of the young lady were lost. The detectives kept Ryan and Meade in view, and followed them back to this city, where they were arrested.

At the magistrate's office they were confronted by the father and mother of the girl who have been making such persistent efforts to find their missing daughter.

When accused by the indignant father, both men at first denied their guilt. They were both held in default of $10,000 bail.

Ryan afterwards said the girl is now in New York. Telegrams are flying thick and fast between Washington and Pittsburgh about the arrest of Ryan.

Lieut. Ryan's superior, has suspended him and says that if the charges are sustained his dismissal from the service must follow. Ryan has not yet secured bail.

MR. CONKLING BETTER.

Dr. Barker Says He Has Begun to Recover.

In Better Condition Than He Has Been in Ten Days.

The Patient Enjoys a Peaceful Slumber This Morning, and Upon Awakening Recognizes the Physician and Shakes Hands with Him—Light Breaking After the Long Struggle with Disease—One Last Spell of Delirium Before the Change for the Better.

The condition of Mr. Conkling is much improved. At 7 o'clock he was sleeping much more peacefully than he had for some hours.

His physicians were on the tiptoe of expectancy, as when he awoke they expected to glean much important information as to his precise condition.

At 6.30 o'clock Mr. Conkling once more mechanically arose from his couch in delirium and paced up and down the room, muttering to himself the while.

After ten minutes spent in this manner the sufferer relapsed into a state of complete exhaustion and sank upon his bed.

It was not long until he was fast asleep. At 8 o'clock Mr. Conkling was still sleeping. This unusually long rest was looked upon by the physicians as a wholesome indication.

Yet they felt that no symptom could be depended upon until the patient awoke.

Dr. Barker called this morning at 9.10 o'clock and found his patient resting peacefully. The doctor felt the patient's pulse and found it more regular than it has been for several days.

Mr. Conkling awoke and cordially shook hands with the physician, who at once asked him if he would not take some soothing medicine.

The sufferer promptly replied in the affirmative, and promptly took the medicine offered him.

Subsequently Dr. Barker, in the form of an official bulletin, announced that Mr. Conkling was beginning to recover.

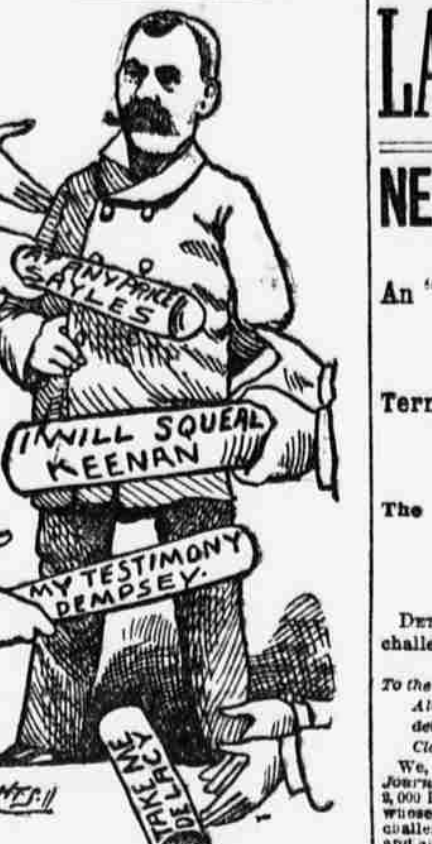

A marked change for the better," he added, "had taken place during the night. Mr. Conkling is much better this morning."

In fact, he is much better this morning than he has been for at least ten days, and enjoyed more refreshing sleep during the night than he has for over ten days.

After taking the medicine Mr. Conkling fell asleep again. He awoke only about fifteen or twenty minutes at a time, and then walks the room. He is not at all violent, and Mrs. Conkling and her daughter, Mrs. (Oakman), who lives upon with him all night, together with Dr. Hartley and the nurse.

Mr. Conkling's pulse and temperature are improved. He took some medicine every evening, but the night till an hour or two ago when he refused it. There is no discharge of pus this morning."

Dr. Barker declined to state the exact condition of Mr. Conkling's pulse and temperature.

AT LAST.

Inspector Byrnes Can Take His Choice Among the Absent Boilers.

KEER TO BE TRIED NEXT.

Judge Patterson Fixes the Date for April 23—Sharp's Case Dismissed.

Counsel and witnesses in the case of Thomas B. Kerr, indicted for bribing the Alderman Board of 1884, were promptly on hand before Justice Patterson at 10.30 this morning, only to find that the Special Term of the Supreme Court was in session to hear argument on the motion for a change of venue in the Sharp case.

That motion will never be argued, a change having been had to the supreme tribunal above.

At noon counsel and witnesses again assembled, and after the proceedings in the Sharp case had been dismissed, Col. Fellows moved to fix a day for the trial of Thomas B. Kerr, and asked that that day be Monday, April 23.

Counselor Bird asked on which of the twenty-one counts of the indictment the District Attorney would elect to try the defendant. Col. Fellows answered that that upon which Sharp was tried—the bribery of ex-Alderman Fullerton—would be the count selected.

Mr. Bird said that Mr. Martine had agreed to the Richmond could be tried before Kerr. The latter, although anxious to be tried, was in bad health, and could not be ready by the 23d. Kerr would be in town, he thought, by to-morrow.

Notwithstanding Mr. Bird's earnest plea for delay, Justice Patterson peremptorily set the trial day for the 23d inst., declining to hear Col. Fellows's argument in favor of that date.

FULLERTON IS THE WINNER.

Surprising Result of the City and Suburban Handicap in England.

[BY CABLE TO PRESS NEWS ASSOCIATION.]

LONDON, April 11.—This was the second day of the Epsom spring races. The event of the day was the thirty-eight mile of the City and Suburban Handicap over the last mile and a quarter of the Derby course.

The result was a surprise, especially to those who had backed the favorite Merry Hampton, winner of last year's Derby. For Sir George's horse, who was in bad health, and could not be ready by the 23d. Kerr would be in town, he thought, by to-morrow.

Notwithstanding Mr. Bird's earnest plea for delay, Justice Patterson peremptorily set the trial day for the 23d inst., declining to hear Col. Fellows's argument in favor of that date.
